BY SAFE HAND.TOP SECRET AND PERSONAL.

15th November, 1944.

Dear Bess

The visit here of your very able representative in Switzerland reminds me of the fact that when I was in London recently I had the opportunity of going into the history and product of the "Wood" traffic. This is certainly one of the greatest secret intelligence achievements of this war. I mention this exceptional case but I must also express my most sincere admiration for the way your whole S.I. organization has been developed in what is, compared to the development of the various established secret intelligence organizations elsewhere, a phenomenally short space of time. I say nothing at this moment about what I have seen of the operations of your other departments, which are no less outstanding, but I cannot help recording my delight that your "I" side — which, after all, is the most delicate operation in foreign fields — has been so amazingly successful. All those with any real experience who know something about its operations and achievements are astonished at the progress which has been made.

You have cause for pride in the accomplishment, and those concerned deserve every congratulation, but I look beyond the satisfaction which has been given me to play some role of minor assistance in its beginnings, to a profound hope and faith that the organization which you have so effectively created and developed will continue into the days of peace.

1. C. P. 1

03 April, 1946

Dear Colonel Morgan:

In agreement with PW/SHARP, we are slowing down our special operations unit in the country on May 1st in order to make possible a switch-over of most of the staff employed there to new duties in connection with occupied Germany and Austria.

This will, of course, mean that the O.S.S. teams which have been working with the P.W.E. team in our two main media - Soldatensender West and "Nachrichten für die Truppe" - will cease fire on the same day.

As for the O.S.S. broadcasts on P.W.E. transmitters, there is no reason why these should not continue until May 30th, if you so wish, as it is only after that date that we shall be requiring the transmitters for other purposes. I feel sure that, should you wish to continue these broadcasts after May 30th, we could probably make some transmitter-time available, although our present plans envisage full use of the transmitters for the new duties from June 1st.

I should like to take this opportunity of thanking you for the magnificent way in which the O.S.S. teams have worked with P.W.E. in the "Black" attack on the Services' morale in Germany. There can have been few better examples of wholehearted Anglo-American collaboration than the production of the daily news sheet, "Nachrichten für die Truppe", first with Major Clarke, of P.W.E., as the editor and Major Elliot, of O.S.S., as his deputy, and then, on the departure of Major Clarke, with Major Elliott, of O.S.S., as editor, and Major Mosbacher, of P.W.E., as his deputy, while under them worked a staff supplied jointly by O.S.S. and P.W.E.

The brilliant layout work of Mr. Mueller, of O.S.S., who for months on end worked extremely long hours, is recognized by everyone on the P.W.E. side as a main contribution to the success of the news sheet.

In the same way, everyone engaged on P.W.E. "Black" has been full of praise for all that O.S.S. did to improve the musical entertainment side of Soldatensender West. Evidence from prisoners of war and other listeners has shown the effectiveness of the Musak discs with their attractive dance music and subversive lyrics, as well as of the special productions of your musical unit working in this country under the extremely competent direction of Mr. Ketbe and Mr. Ashley. The ingenuity this team developed in dubbing German lyrics into records previously barred from use because they had only English vocals reached standards of perfection which no-one had anticipated when O.S.S. were first diffidently asked whether anything so difficult as this could be contemplated.

One of the main features of the Soldatensender West and "Nachrichten" operations was the speed and apparent omniscience of its news services. And here again we must thank O.S.S. for an invaluable contribution, not only with a generous supply of intelligence but in placing at our disposal the services of Lt. Richard D. Wylie, of the U.S. Marine Corps, who first provided a series of graphic reports from the American Air units based in this country, and then later went to the Continent to send back admirably written reports which aided our writers to put convincing colour and detail into their news stories.

I know that I am speaking for Mr. Delmer and everyone in the Special Operations Unit when I say how much we regret that this pleasant and fruitful collaboration with the O.S.S. "black" experts must now come to an end, and how much we hope an opportunity may perhaps present itself for renewed collaboration in another field.

Yours sincerely,

Signed, J. H. A. Galt

Dear General Donovan:

Your memorandum of April 14, addressed to General Arnold, regarding the excellent rapport between the 1st Lt. 101 and the Tenth Air Force, was read with great interest.

Several members of this staff, upon return from visits in the field, have reported their observation of the fine work that your men in Burma have done in connection with the Tenth Air Force and the Air Transport Command operations over the Burp. I personally observed an extraordinary example of combat intelligence provided to the Tenth Air Force on my visit to Burma, and reported it in glowing detail to General Arnold and the Air Staff.

The results obtained definitely prove that, with the proper cooperation, the OSS and the Army Air Forces can achieve outstandingly successful results in a difficult theater of operations.

Please accept on behalf of the Army thanks for the valuable assistance rendered to the Tenth Air Force by the OSS, and our best wishes for your continued success.

Very truly,

2. Under existing combat conditions involving fast movement, it has been found that this manner of employing agents is more lucrative than any other method. A recent example is the first agent who definitely confirmed the absence of the previously reported motorized army being concentrated in that area. He also brought back various bits of very timely and valuable "GI gossip". General Patch was extremely interested in the report.

1. During the campaign in Southern France, and the subsequent pursuit of the 19th German Army to the Vosges, the Seventh Army enjoyed the benefits of a continuous flow of intelligence from various types of OSS elements, many of whom were deep in enemy territory and who were dependent upon radio communication as their only means of receiving instructions and transmitting acquired information. The maintenance of this widespread net of radio communications in enemy territory was made possible by the careful and skillful operations of the Signal Section, 267th Regiment, OSS, the elements of which were in North Africa. Though decidedly less glamorous, and much less likely to receive appropriate recognition, the work of the Signal Section was an indispensable link in the maintenance of this successful OSS operation, which was an outstanding contribution to the success of the Seventh Army campaign in Southern France.

2. It is felt not only to acknowledge the valuable contribution made by the Signal Section, 267th Regiment, OSS, to Seventh Army operations, but also to express appreciation and commendation for the skillful and efficient way with which the mission of the Signal Section was accomplished.

Dear Bill:

The charts that your office prepared for us not only proved their value in a military sense, but also are examples of perfect workmanship. They were of inestimable value to us in explaining to the Joint Chiefs of Staff and several of their supporting agencies the intricacies of our written plan.

I would appreciate your commending the persons responsible for working up these charts for us and in working so wholeheartedly with my officers.

We were delighted to have your company from Hawaii to the coast and hope we can have you as a traveling companion again in the near future.

Washington, D. C.

General Sultan was away but I met General Cannon, Colonel Knight, Colonel Stillwell, Colonel Peers (just promoted), and many other officers.

There are, however, two points of great importance affecting policy...

1. The creation of a volunteer guerrilla forces. This A.M.A. have been conducting a campaign on the following principle. A group of American officers is to train the guerrillas and when that group is fully trained, it is to be sent to the front and is to act as a safeguard to the forces that group raises. When the battle moves over them, the arms are collected and to illustrate the effectiveness of the A.M.A. system Colonel Peers was in his armories a surplus of 2,000 more weapons than he originally issued.

The effect of this group system can best be illustrated by comparing it to a slowly moving snow ball, varying in mass, with its rear end melting away as guerrillas are discharged to their own parts of the country and villages.

Their strength is considerable and round the area of IASB there are no less than 7 battalions of between 7-900 strong, commanded by Americans deep in the enemy country.

Their bag of Japanese picked up dead in the last 7 months is now approaching 4,000 and it is due to my mind to the above system that the volume of intelligence available to N.C.A.C. and on the borders of their territory, to 14th Army, is so great.

I have discussed the above with B.I.C. IV and C.S.S. Adv. A.I.F. J.E.A. and strongly urged that covering approval be given to N.C.A.C. to continue the system, for there is at present an order out that no arming may take place without prior approval, and in view of the Karenni decision to force 136 (referred to in paragraph 6(3) above) and the great success in the N.C.A.C. area, it is not surprising that those in authority at N.C.A.C. feel that they also should be fully trusted.

B.I.C. IV and C.S.S. were fully in agreement, and pointed out that C.S.S. had submitted no plan, and this I have asked C.S.S. to do. When they had, the agreement of C.A.C. B. would be sought.

I was impressed with the evident sense of responsibility present in the minds of those concerned at N.C.A.C., and C.S.S. towards the British Civil Affairs problem, and am equally convinced that the issuing of arms by the Americans under their system can be for nothing but help military purposes, and being carefully controlled to nothing proportionate to harm post military problems.

Nothing in the above affects the A.S., but is concerned with the Karenns, Ithas and presumably in time the Karenni.

A point to water is that when the 'snowball' reaches the 3000 136 Karenni resistance movement very careful co-ordination will be needed.

... M. Pale ...

the Japanese, and the point was put forward that their operations have to be cleared with the P. 2. Division, which sometimes means that "hot" intelligence which could be worked up into effective black propaganda is faced by delay and by the time approval is given is stone cold and useless. The remedy it is suggested lies in the laying down of free lines within which subordinate commands can work and approval to be given for action to be taken on the spot, subsequently reporting what has been done in order to keep superiors in the picture.

8. ADV. ALFSEA (second visit).

In addition to discussing the points above a meeting was held which was attended by all 2.1 and 2.2 P Div. officers with the exception of Lieut Colonel Willis, who for some reason had not arrived. The following decisions were reached:-

1. Code Names.

'P' Division SACSEA would continue to issue blocks of code names as received from I.S.S.D. on behalf of I.S.L.D., C.S.S. and Force 136, and keep 2.1 P Div. A.L.F.S.E.A. informed of what they represent. 'E' Force code names would be issued by Adv. A.L.F.S.E.A. and 'P' Div S.A.C.S.E.A. be kept informed.

2. Money.

Any money required by Adv. A.L.F.S.E.A. for 'E' Force operations would be provided through 'P' Div. SACSEA.

3. Boundaries.

The 15th Corps boundary to the eastward was defined as running along the ridge of the Eastern Arakan Yomas.

9. General Remarks.

The expressed opinion of commanders and senior staff officers of the various commands regarding clandestine intelligence gave us the same type of shock one would receive in a market town if one met a group of fairly contented farmers. There is no doubt there has been a marked improvement and the system is well into its stride, and should produce progressive results. There is a necessity for all organizations to get quicker into action, commanders frequently want an operation put in at very short notice and clandestine services should plan to that end. This is being taken up.

Another need is for more frequent liaison visits, misunderstandings and doubts disappear with personal contact and weak spots show up more quickly.

Seeing the O.S.S. unit in the field with its equivalent combination of all the British clandestine and quasi-military organizations left me in no sort of doubt as to how these services can best be organized to serve commanders in the field. It would be unsound to recommend a changed organization now for we have, by empiric methods, arrived at a compromise which works.

10. The agreement of A.L.F.S.R.A. was obtained to our P/2440 of 31st January 1945, implementing the conclusions reached at the Barrois-core conference.

SUBJECT: Letter of Appreciation.

TO : Lt. Commander Frank G. Wisner,
Detachment, 2677th Regiment, GCS (Provisional).

1. Upon the occasion of your relief from duty in Rumania, I desire to express to you my sincere appreciation for the excellent cooperation and assistance which you have rendered the personnel of this Delegation.

2. You arrived in Bucharest with your unit only a few days after the entry of Rumania into the war on the side of the Allies, and for the ensuing several months you assumed the entire responsibility of safeguarding United States interests and of accumulating information of value both to this Delegation and to our Nation as a whole. The background and contacts which you established during this period, and which you have since so willingly passed on to me, have proven invaluable. From the very moment of the arrival of this Delegation, we have profited greatly from the cordial relationships which you succeeded in establishing with both Russian and Rumanian agencies. Since your arrival, also, you have gladly accepted all suggestions which I have offered with regard to your activities, and you have so directed the operations of your unit as to provide a maximum coverage of all phases of the local situation without in any way obstructing the work of this Delegation.

3. From both a personal and a professional viewpoint, I sincerely regret that our cordial relationship of the past few months must now cease. I wish you every success in your future operations.

Dear General Donovan:

I would like to express to you my appreciation of the material aid which the Office of Strategic Services and its sub-section have rendered to the United States Strategic Air Forces while operating in this theater of war. This appreciation is enhanced by numerous reports made to me by my Staff Officers, who have profited continually by their valuable contacts with your service organization.

It would seem unfair to single out any particular aid which the Office of Strategic Services has extended to the United States Strategic Air Forces. However, I would like to stress that the wealth of timely assistance given to us by your sections dealing with the periodic condition of the various German industrial complexes has been of tremendous value. We have made use of intelligence given to us by men of your organization time and time again in our target work, and it is sincerely hoped that the type of services which are presently being rendered by your sections dealing with these matters will not end with this war, but will continue to develop throughout the future of our country.

Your generosity in allowing the United States Strategic Air Forces to utilize experienced analysts has made for a well rounded program and has enabled our Intelligence and Operational Directorates to feel a certain confidence in their decisions which might have been lacking without this assistance.

Sincerely yours,

BRITISH SECURITY CO-ORDINATION

BY SAFE HAND.TOP SECRET AND PERSONAL.

The visit here of your very able representative in Switzerland reminds me of the fact that when I was in London recently I had the opportunity of going into the history and conduct of the "Wood" traffic. This is certainly one of the greatest secret intelligence achievements of this war. I mention this exceptional case but I must also express my most sincere admiration for the way your whole S.I. organization has been developed in what is, compared to the development of the various established secret intelligence organizations elsewhere, a phenomenally short space of time. I say nothing at this moment about what I have seen of the operations of your other departments, which are no less outstanding, but I cannot help recording my delight that your "I" side — which, after all, is the most delicate operation in foreign fields — has been so amazingly successful. All those with any real experience who know something about its operations and achievements are astonished at the progress which has been made.

You have cause for pride in the accomplishment, and those concerned deserve every congratulation, but I look beyond the satisfaction which has been given me to play some role of minor assistance in its beginnings, to a profound hope and faith that the organization which they have so effectively created and developed will continue into the days of peace.

- Page Two -

After this war you and I will not be following our normal peacetime preoccupations. You will know my views about the importance of the United States Government having its own world-wide secret intelligence organization. It may be that other Governments, possibly with evil intentions, would not welcome the continuation of an U.S.G. secret intelligence organization, but I, personally, have always had the deepest conviction that if such an organization as yours had existed in the years following the last war this war might have been averted. There is no need to go into the details of what I consider to be absolutely irrefutable arguments in support of this contention, because they are known to you and I think that you completely agree with me.

I write you this letter not only to express my admiration for the pages of history which you have already made but also to say once again that I hope and trust that your achievements of the past are to be but the sound foundation for the future S.I. organization of U.S.G.

The visit here of your very able representative in Switzerland reminds me of the fact that when I was in London recently I had the opportunity of going into the history and progress of the "Wood" traffic. This is certainly one of the greatest secret intelligence achievements of this war. I mention this exceptional case but I must also express my most sincere admiration for the way your whole S.I. organization has been developed in what is, compared to the development of the various established secret intelligence organizations elsewhere, a phenomenally short space of time. I say nothing at this moment about what I have seen of the operations of your other departments, which are no less outstanding, but I cannot help recording my delight that your "I" side — which, after all, is the most delicate operation in foreign fields — has been so amazingly successful. All those with any real experience who know something about its operations and achievements are astonished at the progress which has been made.

You have cause for pride in the accomplishment, and those concerned deserve every congratulation, but I look beyond the satisfaction which has been given me to play some role of minor assistance in its beginnings, to a profound hope and faith that the organization which you have so effectively created and developed will continue into the days of peace.

After this war you and I will probably be following our normal peacetime careers. You will know my views about the importance of the United States Government having its own wide secret intelligence organization. It may be that other Governments, possibly with evil intentions, would not welcome the continuation of an U.S.G. secret intelligence organization, but I personally, have always had the deepest conviction that if such an organization had existed in the years following the last war that war might have been averted. There is no need to go into the details of what I consider to be absolutely irrefutable arguments in support of this contention, because they are known to you and I think that you completely agree with me.

I write you this letter not only to express my admiration for the pages of history which you have already made but also to say again that I hope and trust that your commitments of the past are to be but the sound foundation for the future S.I. organization of U.S.G.

Dear Sir,

The visit here of your very able representative in Switzerland reminds me of the fact that when I was in London recently I had the opportunity of going into the history and conduct of the "Hood" traffic. This is certainly one of the greatest secret intelligence achievements of this war. I mention this exceptional aspect but I must also express my most sincere admiration for the way your whole S.I. organization has been developed in what is, compared to the development of the various established secret intelligence organizations elsewhere, a phenomenally short space of time. I say nothing at this moment about what I have seen of the operations of your other departments, which are no less outstanding, but I cannot help recording my delight that your "H" side — which, after all, is the most delicate operation in foreign fields — has been so amazingly successful. All those with any real experience who know something about its operations and achievements are astonished at the progress which has been made.

You have cause for pride in the accomplishment, and those concerned deserve every congratulation, but I look beyond the satisfaction which has been given me to play some role of minor assistance in its beginnings, to a profound hope and faith that the organization which you have so effectively created and developed will continue into the days of peace.

After this war you and I will be following our normal peacetime careers. You will know my views about the importance of the United States Government having a worldwide secret intelligence organization. Dear General Donovan:

I am attaching for your information, a copy of a letter to this headquarters from the Chief Signal Officer expressing his appreciation for the opportunity to examine certain captured equipment made available by the efforts of your organization. This is another of many instances wherein the OSS has been so helpful to the Army.

The equipment in question was a late model of a German Radiosonde which was recovered by your agents who were assigned to the Simmons Mission.

HEADQUARTERS, FIRST UNITED STATES ARMY, AP. 3. 27 Oct. 1944

To: Commanding General, Twelfth Army Group.

1. As pointed out in the basic report, a great deal was accomplished of material assistance to First Army by the resistance groups. Much of this assistance was the result of plans of a strategic nature drawn up by 11th Air Headquarters. As these plans developed during the course of the operation, this army as well as other forces benefited from the resistance efforts. SP Detachment No. 10, attached to this headquarters, assisted in keeping this headquarters informed of the activities of these groups. It is to be noted that numerous agents were employed by lower units to obtain a great deal of valuable information regarding enemy locations and movements and serve as guides for reconnaissance parties. The use of individual members of the resistance groups rather than organized units was vital in the area covered by this army.

2. The activities of the FFI in the City of Paris were directed by Higher Headquarters but as a result of their efforts the entry into Paris by elements of this arm was facilitated. After its liberation the assistance given to this arm by the resistance, rounds permitted the freeing of large numbers of troops that otherwise would have been used in the city.

3. As a result of these operations it is felt that activities of resistance groups should be directed and coordinated on a higher level than army leaders. However, a small liaison group to keep army headquarters advised, plans is essential. In addition, personnel operate at corps level. The central division headquarters will be notified. The military intelligence division will be kept informed. The military intelligence division will be kept informed. The military intelligence division will be kept informed.

My dear Hornaday,

I should like to express our great thanks for the help which you gave to a large number of British Agents returning through PARIS. I have had many reports from Agents and various Officers of your great kindness to them and the way in which you and your Detachment went out of your way to make them comfortable and to transport them back to this country.

The advance in FRANCE was so rapid that neither this Headquarters nor EEMFI had time to set up a Reception Center in PARIS, and if it had not been for you and your Detachment I am sure that PARIS would have been filled with a milling crowd of Agents wanting help and instructions and there would have been nobody there to aid them.

I should also like to thank you for the help and kindness you showed to Major Hamilton when he arrived in PARIS and before he could set up his Office.

Yours sincerely

Dear General Donovan,

You will find inclosed what this office thinks of the OWS (SI) contribution to Operation 'WABACON'. I fully concur with Colonel Hitchens' memorandum.

The success of the use of the system worked up for WABACON has resulted in the application of the same system to allcountry desks now. The improvement in the type of information now received is marked, and all due to the fact that the customer (G-2 in this case) is receiving from the preparer (OWS-SI) exactly what he has ordered.

The city team in Bucharest has done some fine work and it is hoped that the other city teams will be able to do as well. All the teams have been briefed and this office has seen to it that a questionnaire dealing with essential information is also in their hands. The letter will be amended from time to time before and after they go in.

Very sincerely yours,

MEMORANDUM for D.A.C. of S., G-2

SUBJECT: O.S.S. Contribution to Intelligence Conducted in Operation DRAGOON

1. The intelligence conducted in Operation DRAGOON was probably the fullest and most successful intelligence effort by G-2 AFHQ in support of combined operations commencing with TORCH. The G-2 of the U.S. Army himself made a personal tribute to its extraordinary results.
2. The intelligence supplied by G-2 AFHQ came from a variety of sources but the very considerable contribution of O.S.S. merits special emphasis not only on account of its intrinsic worth but because the results obtained provide a significant example of what can be done by an agency of this kind when it is intent to work in closest cooperation with the Commanding Headquarters which it serves.
3. A breakdown of the intelligence obtained in Southern France supplied by the three Allied agencies shows that our work provided 30% of the S.S., 30% by the S.R. and 20% by the S.I.D.
4. The French Desk at AFHQ maintained daily contact with the G-2 Section at AFHQ. All the efforts of the AFHQ staff in their efforts to secure the information requested. Nothing was left undone when possible.
5. A final check on the intelligence situation in Southern FRANCE was gradually built up and when the attack began in early August threatened to cut off the whole issue. The attack was a very successful one and a phenomenally accurate check on troop movements was made. The result was that we were not only able to keep 7 Army informed on a daily basis but also to provide SHAEF with information in advance of any other source.
6. I have had not inconsiderable experience of intelligence planning and am very fully aware of the patience and industry required of both planners and intelligence agencies. I consider that the results achieved by O.S.S. in respect of Southern FRANCE before DRAGOON so outstanding that they should be brought to the attention of interested authorities together with the names of our principal collaborators:

Mr. Hyde (Head of Algiers French Desk)

Mr. Ryan (Chief scrutinising and disseminating officer)

Mr. Mathews, Mr. Carr and WAC Sgt. Rache (Case (Order of Battle Section))

Mr. Howe (Defenses Section)

Major Crosby (O.S.S. representative with 7 Army)

Mr. Schomaker (Organiser of the Madrid group)

1. The first of these is the fact that the United States and the Soviet Union are the only two countries in the world which have the capability of launching a nuclear attack on the other. This is the only situation in the world in which the threat of mutual annihilation is a reality. It is this fact which has led to the development of the concept of "Mutual Assured Destruction" (MAD) as a means of maintaining a balance of power between the two superpowers.

4. When William J. Brig. General William J. Donovan

Dear General Donovan:

Your thoughtfulness in forwarding for my information a copy of the letter of commendation which you received from General Davidson of the Tenth Air Force with reference to the outstanding accomplishments of Detachment 101, O.S.S. is appreciated. The contribution of this detachment to the efforts of the Tenth Air Force in furnishing target information, damage assessment and, particularly, the assistance and rescue of pilots and air crews adds further assurance that our military successes are to a great extent the result of our traditional American teamwork.

General Davidson's statement that O.S.S. personnel effected the rescue and return of four fighter pilots and participated in the rescue of or assistance to 181 air crew members of troop carrier units and Air Transport Command was most satisfying. These achievements which materially contribute to the maintenance of the high morale of our air crews are all the more remarkable in view of the difficulties of rescue in the dense jungle and rugged, mountainous terrain of Burma.

I wish to take this opportunity to add my own commendation to that of General Davidson for the exceptionally fine work of Detachment 101, O.S.S.

Sincerely yours

Several weeks ago, a need arose for a comprehensive statement in graphic form of the activities of this Command for the purpose of presentation to the Air Staff. Because of the excellent reputation of the Presentation Branch of your Office, we requested your help. Both the text and accompanying charts have now been completed. The result fully justifies our expectations. It is a fine job and should go far towards the goal of a more complete clarification of the work of the Air Transport Command.

Please let me thank you most sincerely for your cooperation as well as that of your associates. In this connection, I wish to commend particularly the work of Mr. H. C. Barton, Jr., Mr. David Zablodowsky, Mrs. Paula Van Hyning, and Mr. Fero Saarinen.

SUBJECT: Commendation

TO : Commanding Officer, Co. B, 2677th Regt. (Prov.), Office of Strategic Services, APO 534, U. S.

1. The excellent work of the Air Section, OSS Detachment, has contributed to the operational effectiveness of the Fifteenth Air Force.

In view of their imminent termination of duty with this Headquarters, I wish to express my official appreciation for the services rendered.

2. Under the conscientious, diligent direction of Captain ~~Stampados~~ Stampados, O-924996, the primary work of setting up basic data on Balkan and Italian communications and industry has been accomplished. Captain Stampados has also organized the Fifteenth Air Force photo library. In addition, he has cooperated whole-heartedly both on work within his field and, when the emergency arose, on any work that would assist the functioning of the A-2 Section. His record with this headquarters reflects credit upon himself and the organization he represents.

3. All three of the enlisted men are deserving of high commendation for the work they have done here. M/Sgt. Herbert B. ~~Wolter~~ Wolter, 33642839, was quick to understand the operational requirements of the Air Force, and his capable assistance was invaluable in organizing first Balkan communications and then the Balkan industry into target systems. S/Sgt. Ralph C. Jones, 32270120, and Sgt. Edward F. Scott, 39244698, by their skillful handling and interpretation of photographs have contributed greatly to the fulfillment of the detachment's assignment.

4. This letter should become a permanent part of the official record of Captain Stampados and the three enlisted men.

1. By your continuing endeavors and attention to duty in supplying intelligence information to this Headquarters, you have rendered valuable service to the U. S. Armed Forces.
2. Primarily responsible for the development of "Base Area Maps", you have assisted all flying personnel of this Command. Your continuing efforts to keep this data current is highly commendable. Your attention to duty, spirit of cooperation and enthusiasm are exemplary.

1. This Center has noted with considerable satisfaction the excellent job done by Capt. D.G. Stampados in organizing Photo Coverage, Map and Mosaic files and indices for 15th Air Force, A-2 Section. Lists which he recently forwarded to us, which he will revise weekly, indicate a very comprehensive approach to what has proven a most vexing problem.

2. As M.P.I.C. feels that much confusion and duplication will be eliminated by the results of Capt. Stampados' efforts, with consequent improvement in M.A.P.R.W.'s service to your organization, it is desired to commend his execution of this task.
